

A Fresh Look Back

White chandelier ornaments, pearly leaping deer, prism droplets, intricate snowflakes and glittery lime glass balls decorate our gift shop tree. It's a retro Christmas with a sparkling clean style that still features that pretty, feminine look you've always loved here. "All Day I Dream About ...Christmas" is a fun look at the young woman in all of us – whether it's fixing up that first dorm room or a first home. And preparing that home for the holiday season still comes with the same enthusiasm in every generation.

Fun, bold patterns are all the rage again.

(Hopefully, these patterns won't appear on kitchen ceilings this time around) but they are wonderful for tablecloths and kitchen linens. Does the year 1967 ring a bell? How about the "summer of love?" A lot happened in San Francisco during that tumultuous time including the founding of a little company called NOW DESIGNS. Since then, they have striven to produce the finest quality kitchen textiles. Our NOW DESIGNS collection features crisp florals, stripes and sweet retro angels or babushka girls on tee towels. Lime green, black and chili pepper red give these linens a fresh perspective.

We're often asked -

When will "all of Christmas" be in? Remember, our small space requires constant inventory shipments. This means you'll find something new and fresh whenever you come in – even the last week of December!
